A NIGHT UNDER WATER,

The Holland submarine torpedo boat Fulton came to the surface yesterday morning at 10:30 after fifteen hours under water. All on board were well, and as fresh as if they had been sealed up in the boat only a few minutes instead of half a day.

The test took place at the company's tuning-up plant at New Suffolk, N. Y., while the fiercest gale and rainstorm that has visited that section in twenty-three years was blowing. All preparations for the test were in order early Saturday evening and at 7:30 there passed down through her companion-way, forward of the turret, Rear Ad-miral John Lowe, retired; Lieut. Ar-ther MacArthur, com nander of the torpedo boat Winslow, which lies in the Holland Company's basin, and who will be in command of the submarine boat Adder, which is there for tuning up; Capt. Frank T. Cable, navigator for the Holland Company; John Wilson, ma-chinis; John Saunders, engineer, and

Henry Morrell, electrician.

A heavy iron hatch was closed over them, and after it was securely fastened the Fulton sank slowly, steadily, and evenly out of sight. Before going down the men had eaten a hearty dinner, and had with them their luncheon and

Yesterday morning promptly at 10:30 the huge craft ran to the surface so suddenly as to almost startle the many people who had assembled on the shore to witness the finish of the test. The conning tower was not opened for several minutes after the Fulton came to the breakfast. surface, so one of the workmen was swung out to her by the derrick and peered in through the heavy glass

Then he shouled ashore that all were well. It was evident that his report was true, for there was no baste on the part of those inside to open the cover o the tower. When it did open finally Captain Cable's head was thrust up to

He saluted the watchers, who had been ashore all night, and looked around in a very surprised way and remarked that if he had known the weather was so very had above water he would have remained under a while longer.

Captain Cable took the test in the most matter-of-fact manner possible, and after a word with his friends went up to his home to bid uls wife good morning. Mrs. Cable stood on the shore last evening when the beat went down, and when questioned eaid she had no fear about the welfare of her husband. Captain Cable eaid:

"The Fulton settled evenly to the bottom and rested there without motion till she was lifted this morning. There was no motion to indicate the severe storm passing overhead. The men for the night, and they amused them-selves by playing cuchre, reading the magazines and papers, and spinning

JEWELS FOR SCHRATT'S PIG.-Kath. arina Schratt, once a popular act ess, but now Emperor Francis Joseph's great favorite and friend, has gone to Paris to witness the first performance of "Pompadour," by Bergerat. An Immense Purchase of Finest Mercerized Satine Underskirts.

You doubtless remember the commotion in the business world occasioned by the disastrous failure of the old established house of Selz Bros., the leading makers of high-class skirts. The failure was not only the worst in years, but on account of the unceremonious leaving of the members of the firm for parts unknown, their affairs were thrown into court, which appointed receivers to take charge of the stock and sell it subject to the approval of the court. Bids were called for, and Hecht & Co.'s bid was accounted.

And in this way we have come into pessession of the entire stock of about 14,000 of the finest underskirts ever producad—and as our bid was very greatly below the actual cost of producing, the prices we have made for the selling of this immense purchase are the smallest ever named. Not a woman who is not personally interested in the magnitude and once-in-alifetime chance to secure such fine garments at such a small part of their worth. Read the description below—and come as early as possible for the better choosing:

These beautiful Petticoats are in the finest mercerized satine, very rich and lustrous, equal in appearance and tar superior in wear to silk skirts. The trimmings include elaborate effects in velvet folds and pipings, pleated flounces, clusters of roffles, and every style and pattern of trimming. Colors are royal, cerise, violet and black. Although including an almost endless variety of grades, styles and qualities, the skirts have been divided into three lots at these prices: $1.98. 49c. 98c.

We certainly spared no pains in choosing our stock and we were just as partic-ular in geting good patterns on the medium priced grades as on the expensive ones.

Qualities, too, were looked after with a sharp eye and we are confi-dent that we have not a yard of un-reliable goods in the place, which makes chosing here a pleasure, as you have only the patterns and price to think of
